THE GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE.

In presenting his message to the legislature, Governor Sadler pays a tribute to the late Governor John E. Jones and in behalf of the people of Nevada tenders heartfelt thanks to his excellency Governor James H. Budd of California for the courtesies extended the family of the deceased and the honor paid this State by himself and staff and the First Regiment of California in escorting the remains to Oakland while en-route to Nevada.

The Governor reviews the State's finances in detail and giving the amount of cash in the State treasury at $319,262 44. The State school fund contains bonds, the face value of which is $1,231,000, and $117,203 26 in cash. The indebtedness of the State amounts to $307,000 including the $380,000 irredeemable bond. The interest on the entire debt is paid to date and the State does not owe a dollar except to its own school fund.

The receipts for the years 1895 and 1896 were $77,000 short of the expenditures. This was occasioned by a deficiency for the Midwinter Fair, State Agricultural Society, salaries of State officers and other claims left unpaid by the preceding administration and amounted to $21,902 16, also $64,446 02 for buildings at the State University, Orphan's Home, State Prison and Hospital for Mental Diseases. His message then covers the decrease in the valuation of taxable property from 1892 to 1896 inclusive, the figures showing in the former year a valuation of $31,318,586 38, and in the latter $23,106,194 09, something over $8,000,000. He believes such a pronounced decrease could be remedied in part by the State Board of Equalization.

In 1895 and 1896 the decrease in the salaries paid State officers amounted to $28,485 and he believes the limit has been reached in this direction. The State University, public schools, Orphan's Home, State printing office and in fact all State institutions are referred to in detail, giving the cost of maintaining them, the improvements and in fact a complete statement of the expense connected with them. The attention of the legislature is directed to the subject of a constitutional convention. He also refers to the amendment to the constitution, striking out the word "male." Immigration, mines and mining, irrigation, livestock and agriculture are referred to and recommendations made that in his opinion will greatly benefit Nevada.

After detailing appointments made by his predecessor and himself during the past two years, he suggests that an appropriation of $500 per year be made for the State Land Agent at Washington, also that the Lieutenant Governor be made ex-officio warden of the State prison at a fixed salary.

That the travelling expenses of the several District Judges, now paid by the State, be paid by the counties in their respective districts. He asks for the consideration of the legislature as to the advisability of repealing the act of the legislature approved March 9, 1895, and which has caused the litigation between counties and railroad corporations regarding the assessable value of railroads.

In conclusion he calls the attention of the legislature to the needs of rigid economy in the conduct of State and county government and believes that their acts will be governed by wisdom and for the best interests of the people. The message as a whole is concise, strictly to the point and shows a careful study of all matters referred to and recommended to the legislature for consideration.

CUBA'S REPORTED VICTORY.

If the latest reports from Cuba are accurate, the insurgents have struck a powerful blow for liberty and materially improved their chances for success. It is always to be kept in mind the reports issued by the Spanish and Cuban leaders are apt to be exaggerated and are sometimes totally false.

But the present story, which seems to be particularly circumstantial, demands attention because of the gains claimed. It is true that the advance of the Cubans to Santa Clara, a city on the central isthmus of Cuba, does not carry them far beyond the advance post which they had established in November, 1895. General Gomez won a decided victory at that time in Taguasco, which is but a short distance from Santa Clara. The Spaniards, it is understood had fortified the city heavily, and at one time had as many as 25,000 troops stationed there.

If the insurgents have actually succeeded in capturing the town they have made the signal point of securing for a base of supplies and a seat for a provisional government the fourth largest city on the island. Already they have advanced their outposts nearly two-thirds of the length of Cuba, and only the seacoast and Havana itself remain to be taken.

A divorce suit brought by Countess Cowley against Earl Cowley was opened in London yesterday. The co-respondent is Mrs. Charington. Answers were filed by the Earl and Mrs. Charington denying the allegations.

Chas. W. Fairbanks was yesterday elected United States Senator for Indiana to succeed Senator Voorhees. The minority voted for Voorhees.

Congressional Doings.

WASHINGTON, January 19.—In the Senate to-day Hale of Maine called up the bill providing for the organization of a naval battalion in the District of Columbia. The bill passed.

The bill passed for a public building at Altoona, Pa., to cost $125,000 for the incorporation of the American instructors to the deaf.

At 2 o'clock the Nicaragua canal bill was taken upon. Turpie of Indiana addressed the Senate in opposition to the bill.

House.

The day in the House, in pursuance of a special order adopted yesterday, was devoted to the consideration of private pension bills. Under order of debate each bill was limited to ten minutes. About one hundred private pension bills remain on the calendar.

Committee Work.

The House Committee on Commerce will give a hearing on Friday to the promoters of the Pacific Cable Company of New York, which is a revival of Colonel Spalding's Company.

To Foreclose.

CHICAGO, January 19.—The Post's Washington special says: The Government is making extraordinary haste in preparing papers in the Union Pacific foreclosure proceedings. Secretary Carlisle, Attorney-General Harmon and ex-Governor Hoar, on behalf of the Government, and Chairman Fitzgerald of the Union Pacific Reorganization Committee and Winslow S. Pierce, its attorney, on the other hand, are in continuous session. The papers will probably be completed to-morrow and a formal order issued to file the cross bills in the pending foreclosure suits to make the Government a party thereto.

The move is a stab at Huntington's scheme for a commission to settle the Pacific roads indebtedness. The commission bill will be reported to-morrow by the House committee on Pacific railroads, but its chances of passing Congress are remote. Foreclosure and the survival of the fittest is the program.

TELEGRAPHIC NOTES.

Senator Vest was yesterday re-elected to succeed himself at Jefferson, Missouri.

At Harrisburg, Pa., yesterday Boies Penrose was elected United States Senator to succeed Donald J. Cameron.

At Concord, N. H., yesterday J. W. Gallinger was unanimously elected to succeed himself as United States Senator for that State.

The preliminary examination of J. J. Cooney, charged with perjury in connection with the Fair will case, began in San Francisco yesterday.

The vote for United States Senator for New York took place at Albany yesterday and resulted as follows: Platt 145, Hill 42, and Henry George 4.

At Boise City, Idaho, yesterday the Populists went over to Frank Walton for United States Senator and he also got three Democratic votes. The vote was as follows: Walton 28, Dubois 25.

At Springfield, Ill., yesterday ex-Governor Altgeld was nominated as United States Senator by the Democratic members of the Legislature. No quorum was present and the body adjourned.

The trial of Ivory, alias Bell, was continued in London yesterday. The evidences presented dealt with the movements on the continent of the alleged confederates of the prisoner, and of his visit to Glasgow until the time he was arrested.

The Madrid Herald asserts that the United States has refused to continue negotiations to restore peace in Cuba on the grounds that the time for such has passed. In official circles, however, it is stated that such negotiations were never instituted.

The Supreme Court of Missouri handed down a decision yesterday morning affirming the decision of the lower court in the case of Arthur Duestrow, the millionaire who killed his wife and child at St. Louis. He will be re-sentenced to death.

The action for divorce brought by Prince de Chimay against his wife, who eloped with a gypsy musician, was commenced yesterday. The public prosecutor asked that in the interest of public decency the newspaper men and public be excluded. The request was granted.

Henry M. Teller was almost unanimously elected United States Senator at Denver yesterday. All members classed as Populists, Democrats, silver Republicans and national Silverites voted solidly for him. The vote was as follows: Teller 92, and G. W. Allen (Rep.) 6.

Diphtheria Cure.

The testimony of a prominent physician:

FOUNTAIN CITY, Ind., June 17, 1895.
This certifies that I have been using V. O. in my practice. I have never found any medical preparation in 46 years of practice that is calculated to do so much good in so wide a range of diseases and leave no after bad effects. In Diphtheria it has proved a perfect specific in my hands, and I had rather depend on it alone in that dreadful disease than the whole popular Materia Medica with that left out.

THE NEVADA LEGISLATURE.

THE EIGHTEENTH SESSION—SECOND DAY.

Members of Both Branches Informing Themselves Regarding Probable Measures.

CARSON, January 19, 1897.

JOURNAL.—The Senatorial caucus last evening seemed to have quieted all speculation as far as that matter was concerned. J. P. Jones received the endorsement of the entire Assembly with the exception of the two Republican members, Hodgkinson of Washoe and Oliver of Ormsby, who did not participate in the caucus. Five Senators also absented themselves from the caucus, viz: Summerfield, Kaiser and Mills, Republicans, and Comins and Skaggs, Independents. The ballot of the joint caucus gave Mr. Jones 33 votes and Mr. Nixon three, the latter vote being the Humboldt delegation. Immediately after the adjournment of the caucus Messrs. Powning and Gorman invited the entire membership of both houses, as well as many others, to the Arlington, and champagne flowed freely amid eulogistic speeches of Nevada's veteran Senator.

The joint convention of the two houses will meet next Tuesday and the official vote will be taken for United States Senator. It is believed that the three votes for Mr. Nixon will then be polled for Mr. Jones, also the two Independents, giving him 40 out of 45 votes.

There were many departures on the outgoing trains this morning, the interest surrounding the Senatorial question and the hope of obtaining some position brought many visitors to Carson, but as soon as these matters were settled those who had taken an active part in the former case and the defeated candidates and friends in the last instance shook the snow of Carson off their feet and left the town in various moods of satisfaction or disappointment, as the case might be.

The second day's session was remarkably quiet, the selection of the various committees and the arranging of details for the commencement of regular business occupying the attention and requiring consultation. It is thought that by the end of the week several important measures will be introduced in both branches of the Legislature, and by next week the members will get down to regular work.

Some of the principal topics talked about are the woman's suffrage question, a revision of the mining laws, various road laws, amending the constitution limiting sessions of the Legislature, a reduction of the cost of maintaining the government, and some matters of minor importance. There are also local matters talked of, such as the incorporation of Reno, the disincorporation of Carson, the consolidation of county offices, and the usual sheep, cattle and stock bills. In fact there seems to be a marked disposition to carefully consider the question of economy without detriment to or crippling the industries of any certain class of people or community. It is claimed that by reason of the peculiar conditions and the limited population of the State the legislation should be in the direction of aiding and furthering every resource, and not simply in the interest of one or two principal ones.

The gathering of the Senators and Assemblymen from every county affords a splendid opportunity of exchanging views as to existing conditions in each section of the State, and to devise ways and means of joining forces to aid in State development and prosperity. It is already demonstrated that the opportunity is being taken advantage of and the representatives are conferring together reasonably and are endeavoring to obtain all of the information possible.

LOCAL NOTES.

Governor Sadler and Private Secretary Kelley are doing the honors and are always pleased to see callers.

The other State officers are courteous and endeavor to make it pleasant for everyone.

Livingston's place impresses one that there is some life in the capital and a crowd can be found there all the time.

The Arlington is headquarters for legislators, attaches and lobbyists, and the office and billiard rooms present a lively appearance. The depot, both night and morning, on the arrival and departure of trains is crowded with people and are the most exciting events of the day.

There are only sixty-three prisoners in the State prison and the officers there are complaining of dull times like every one else.

Superintendent Beebe of the Orphan Home takes great pride in his large family and extends a cordial invitation to all to visit him.

The weather is very cold, cloudy and disagreeable and has rather a depressing effect on the members from a distance.

The sporting fraternity is well represented, but the cry of no money is heard among the profession.

Lem Allen, speaker of the House, is good natured as usual and his hearty laugh can be heard at a distance of two blocks.

Messrs. Dunn & Lemmon of the News have extended a hearty invitation and welcome to the various visiting newspaper men and are ever ready to accommodate and please. Both of them are every inch good fellows.

Your Boy Won't Live a Month.

So Mr. Gilman Brown, of 34 Mill St., South Gardner, Mass., was told by the doctors. His son had Lung trouble, following Typhoid Malaria, and he spent three hundred and seventy-five dollars with doctors, who finally gave him up, saying: "Your boy won't live a month." He tried Dr. King's New Discovery and a few bottles restored him to health and enabled him to go to work a perfectly well man. He says he owes his present good health to the use of Dr. King's New Discovery, and knows it to be the best in the world for Lung trouble. Trial Bottles Free at S. J. Hodgkinson's Drug Store.

Yesterday's Wedding.

Dr. W. A. Phillips was married yesterday in San Francisco to Miss Grace Maxwell, who is well known in Reno. Mrs. Phillips is a cousin of Mrs. Geo. H. Taylor and has been a student at the Nevada University. The happy couple will spend their honeymoon at Pacific Grove, after which they will return to Reno and the doctor will resume the practice of his profession.

Some of the Things He has Done for Nevada During His Career in Congress.

"What has John P. Jones ever done for Nevada? He made a speech about ten years ago and has never done anything since."—Nevada Paper.

I thought of these lines as I stood in the United States Senate chamber to-day. Yes, what indeed, has John P. Jones ever done for Nevada? What has he ever done for the commonwealth that has honored him?

It is the 15th day of August, 1875. Henry Wilson, Vice President of the United States, is in the chair. It is the culmination of a long and bitter debate relative to the disorganized finances, the causes of the panic of 1873 and the long period of depression following.

An agreement has been reached to refer the whole subject matter to a joint committee of the two Houses, and the Vice President rises to name its members. It is recognized as an important committee, not only by reason of the nature of the inquiry it is to make, but because of the unusual powers accorded it. It has since been recognized as perhaps the most important committee ever appointed by Congress.

The man who "never did anything for Nevada" is named as its chairman. Nearly two years ago by John P. Jones has almost forsaken the halls of Congress. He is neglecting his constituents. He hardly ever answers to a roll call. Go to his private study and there you will find him drowsing over dusty volumes, the debris of the financial lore of ages. Seeing but dimly at first, amid the chaos of centuries of groping after truth, and then more clearly, at length light breaks on him, and beneath the wand in his fingers glow the priceless truths which are the basic principles of human liberty and the laws underlying the prosperity and happiness of mankind. It is enlightening and preparing the unanswerable proof, that the value of money is quantitative and not qualitative, depending upon the number of units in circulation relative to population and business and not upon the money substance. He is laying down the tenet of bimetalism, that the wheels of progress move forward when the value of money falls, and the spellament of the masses begins when money appreciates.

His report was submitted two days before Ruford B. Hayes took his seat as President. When Congress met again the thirty years war for silver had received its inception.

The House passed a free coinage bill. In the Senate the great fight against silver was to be made. Roscoe Conkling was the leader of the opposition, John P. Jones of the silver men.

Conkling had prepared a speech which was declared by his friends to be the effort of his life. It was intended to be used in reply to the Senator from Nevada. Senator Jones spoke on the bill and it is an historical fact that Conkling not only never attempted to answer the speech of the man who never did anything for Nevada, but declared it to be unanswerable.

The enemies of silver were sufficiently strong, however, to prevent the passage of the act as it came from the House. It was amended by providing for the purchase and coinage of not more than four nor less than two million dollars of silver per month, and the calling of an international monetary conference. When the appointments of the representatives of the United States were made to this conference, the man who never did anything for Nevada headed the list.

It is the 10th day of September, 1890. A great tariff act is under discussion. William McKinley, the author of the act, has spoken upon it in the House. In the Senate, the greatest minds in the country have taken sides and have wearied the Senate with their surfeit of eloquence and wisdom.

John P. Jones rises in his seat and addresses the chair. "In a few moments telephone messages are being sent all over the city, that he is speaking. In half an hour the galleries and even the corridors are crowded. Every senator is in his seat listening—an unusual tribute! The speech occupies nine hours in delivery. Ere he is through, it is recognized that John P. Jones has done for the tariff what he did for silver—lifted it to the plane of a science. He has shown the co-relation of social progress and differential industries. He has written the most eloquent tribute to the creative hand of man ever penned. That speech has since been translated in many languages and more than a million of copies have been distributed by the tariff associations of the United States.

It is the 4th day of September, 1893, near the close of the famous extra session called to repeal the Sherman Act. The Senate has been in continuous session for weary days and nights; and a trial of physical endurance has been in progress, the like of which has never before taken place in America.

It is known that there are enough votes to pass the repeal act. The silver senators are trying to prevent a vote by talking the bill to death. The opposition, under the leadership of Senator Voorhees, have offered a counter test of endurance by going into continuous

It is the 10th day of September, 1890. A great tariff act is under discussion. William McKinley, the author of the act, has spoken upon it in the House. In the Senate, the greatest minds in the country have taken sides and have wearied the Senate with their surfeit of eloquence and wisdom.

John P. Jones rises in his seat and addresses the chair. "In a few moments telephone messages are being sent all over the city, that he is speaking. In half an hour the galleries and even the corridors are crowded. Every senator is in his seat listening—an unusual tribute! The speech occupies nine hours in delivery. Ere he is through, it is recognized that John P. Jones has done for the tariff what he did for silver—lifted it to the plane of a science. It is known that there are enough votes to pass the repeal act. The silver senators are trying to prevent a vote by talking the bill to death. The opposition, under the leadership of Senator Voorhees, have offered a counter test of endurance by going into continuous session. Senator Voorhees has declared that the Senate shall not adjourn without a vote. A vote cannot be taken until the silver senators cease speaking; while on the other hand, the opposition must maintain a quorum to prevent adjournment. The senators for repeal, summoned every short while to answer to their names at roll call in order to maintain a quorum, retire again to their lounges in the cloak room, in the vain endeavor to sleep.

When John P. Jones commences talking the Senators one by one come in to listen. He speaks for four hours and then Senator Voorhees interrupts with these memorable words: "I desire to congratulate the Senator from Nevada on his splendid contribution to the literature of this debate. The charm of what he has said has been enhanced by the personal affection all of the members of this body bear to him. The Senator is tired and we are tired. We have been in continuous session seventy-seven hours. I move to adjourn in order that we at our best may hear the Senator at his best." Considering the circumstances this is said to be among the highest tributes ever paid to a man in public life.

If Nevada has silver interests, and if her people be debtors instead of creditors, then there might be found in John P. Jones record some things which he has done for the honor and welfare of his State, as he has done much for the general welfare of mankind.
